

Electronic Global Police State – New World Order?

The North American Union The loss of sovereignty

The second step or block of the New World Order is being introduced as the "Security and Prosperity Partnership" (SPP) integration of Canada and Mexico into the United States, the first block being the European Union (EU). In March of 2005, President George Bush, President Vicente Fox of Mexico and Canada's Prime Minister Paul Martin signed this document into agreement. The current Prime Minister of Canada Stephen Harper, will meet in Montebello, Quebec, in August of 2007 with President Bush and Mexico's President Felipe Calderon, to discuss the "Partnership" in detail.

So this continent will be transformed into one regional corporate power base similar to the European Union, which in Europe is causing the middle class to disappear and the cost of living to rise dramatically.

Pope John Paul II condemned this form of globalization when he said, on May 17, 2001: "Many also admit that per se it does not assure fair distribution of goods among the citizens of various countries. In reality, the wealth produced often remains in the hands of only a few, with a consequent further loss of sovereignty of national States, already rather weak in the area of development, and leads up to a global system governed by a few centers in the hands of private individuals."

Council on Foreign Relations and the NAU

The Council on Foreign Relations is one of the major architects of the New World Order, a group that promotes globalization all over the world, and have high-ranking members in both political parties. In their own blueprint laid out in May of 2005 is a report of the Council on Foreign Relations (CFR), titled "Building a North American Community" and it states: "The Task Force's central recommendation is the establishment by 2010 of a North American economic and security community, the boundaries of which would be defined by a common external tariff and an outer security perimeter." (Page xvii.) (One of the authors, Bill Weld, was Governor of Massachusetts, he is pro-abortion, pro-homosexual and Libertarian Republican.)

So in other words, there would be no borders or tariffs that would remain between the countries but only within the outer perimeter, thus becoming the North American Union with the same principles of the EU.

"Its (the North American Community) boundaries will be defined by a common external tariff and an outer security perimeter within which the movement of people, products, and capital will be legal, orderly, and safe. Its goal will be to guarantee a free, secure, just, and prosperous North America." (Page 3.)

If the SPP have the power to control the movement of trade, investments, education and production; then we as a people would have no say whatsoever in the running of our countries.

Here is an example of what is happening in the EU today; when Germany's Foreign Minister, Klaus Kinkel was questioned regarding the fact that the people had no desire whatsoever to have their national money replaced by the Euro, he said, "politicians should have the courage to take decisions... against the will of the people." Claude Cheysson from France admitted that the European Union had been constructed only in "the absence of democracy."

So democracy and national sovereignty will be compromised and the NAU would introduce the "Amero" which will be a single currency modeled after the "Euro".

After the "Amero" they would introduce a cashless society for all three nations, and transactions in this high-tech electronic system would give access to your whereabouts as well as your personal information.

In 1986, the single European Act was signed with the aim of creating "an area without the internal frontiers in which the free movement of goods, persons, services, and capital is ensured in accordance with the provisions of this Treaty."

Mexico's President Vicente Fox, U.S. President George Bush, and Canada's Prime Minister Paul Martin meeting in Waco, Texas, on March 23, 2005, to sign into agreement the Security and Prosperity Partnership of North America.

The SPP uses almost the exact same language as the European Act when it states, "To make North American prosperous for the future, we need to improve the efficiency of the movement of people, goods and services crossing our borders."

This SPP plan is not supported or even well known by the citizens of our countries, but rather only the few global corporations that will benefit from it.

In Europe the high cost of living is causing the middle class to disappear. The International Monetary Fund stated that "high unemployment remains a major problem in Europe, especially among the economies that entered monetary union on January 1, 1999."

From Poland there is mass immigration into England, with over 1.5 million Poles crossing the border looking for work. In the United States, President Bush is proposing an "open door" policy with the same scenario for a North American Union.

So who will benefit from this? The super elite, that includes among others: The Council on Foreign Relations, Bilderbergers, Illuminati, and the Committee of 300. The North American Union (NAU) is being created by stealth, and is already well on its way to realization with the help of our own elected representatives and governments using the SPP initiative and NAFTA.

One of the members of the CFR is Zbigniew Brzezinski, who wrote a book titled the "Technocratic Era", which discussed the various means of controlling the United States, and eventually the entire globe via the United Nations. His source was no less than the C-300's blueprint of the plan of world domination. Brzezinski was then acting as National Security Adviser to President Jimmy Carter and is a leading member of the Committee of 300 and the Council on Foreign Relations.

Many of us believe that our government couldn't possibly be planning such a merger, but now it's fast becoming a reality and we cannot ignore the signs any longer. Dr. Itmar Issing, one of the board members of the European Central Bank, has said that "in each country where the Euro has replaced the currency, they have ceased to exist as separate territories. There is no more Germany, France or Belgium. There is simply Europe."

So these men have the means with which they can put an end to the form of State which they find unreasonable.

The CFR report, "Building a North American Community", continues: "While each country must retain its right to impose and maintain unique regulations consonant with its national priorities and income level, the three countries should make a concerted effort to encourage regulatory convergence."

"The three leaders highlighted the importance of addressing this issue at their March 2005 summit in Texas. The Security and Prosperity Partnership for North America they signed recognizes the need for a stronger focus on building the economic strength of the continent in addition to ensuring its security. To this end, it emphasizes regulatory issues. Officials in all three countries have formed a series of working groups under designated lead cabinet ministers. These working groups have been ordered to produce an action plan for approval by the leaders within ninety days, by late June 2005, and to report regularly thereafter." (Pages 23-24.)

The Task Force released its recommendations for a common North America in 2005 with minor reference to it in mainstream media without any headlines in any newspapers, and this presentation is their way of keeping the population unaware of their intrigues.

In a report dated May 24, 2007 that came from Washington, we were informed by the Center of Strategic and International Studies, (CSIS), that the final report of the plans for the North American Union will be submitted to Congress by September 30th of this year.

A referendum system should be offered so that the citizens would have a vote within each nation, and that the will of the people would be required to see if they really want to join such a union. One of the reasons Switzerland did not join the EU was because of their referendum system and their open "show of hands" elections to avoid trickery. The people should make this decision, not government representatives.

So far there are a total of 17 anti-North American Union resolutions that have been introduced in 13 state legislatures. The states who oppose the NAU are: Illinois, Arizona, Missouri, Georgia, Montana, Oklahoma, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Virginia and Washington.

NAFTA Super Highway

For those who do not know, the North American Trade Agreement (NAFTA) was created to promote the objectives of the North American Union. Currently the Mexican economy is ruled by NAFTA and the Mexican people are searching for jobs outside of their country, just like what is happening in the European Union. A Mexican immigrant from Cancun said to a prominent newspaper, "If it were true that NAFTA was good for Mexico, we wouldn't be here."

Their latest project is the so-called NAFTA "Super Highway" – which is a 10-lane highway leading from Mexico to Canada. You can see from the diagram that it would quite literally connect the entire continent of America. They say that it will make trade easier, faster, and more efficient, and make a huge impact on the financial world as we know it. They plan to implement high-tech electronic identifying systems to make it easier to cross the borders of each country, using electronic devices in the cargo itself. The RFID tags that are now being promoted and used will be necessary, according to NAFTA, in order to identify the goods being shipped to other countries.

On September of 2006, Congressman Ron Paul, Republican candidate for the presidency opposing this NAFTA Super Highway said: "This super highway would connect Mexico, the United States, and Canada, cutting a wide swath through the middle of Texas and up through Kansas City. Offshoots would connect the main artery to the west coast, Florida, and northeast. Proponents envision a ten-lane colossus the width of several football fields, with freight and rail lines, fiberoptic cable lines, and oil and natural gas pipelines running alongside.

"This will require coordinated federal and state eminent domain actions on an unprecedented scale, as literally millions of people and businesses could be displaced. The loss of whole communities is almost certain, as planners cannot wind the highway around every quaint town, historic building, or senior citizen apartment for thousands of miles.

"Governor Perry is a supporter of the super-highway project, and Congress has provided small amounts of money to study the proposal. Since this money was just one item in an enormous transportation appropriations bill, however, most members of Congress were not aware of it.

"The ultimate goal is not simply a superhighway, but an integrated North American Union – complete with a currency, a cross-national bureaucracy, and virtually borderless travel within the Union. Like the European Union, a North American Union would represent another step toward the abolition of national sovereignty altogether."

Under terrorism new technologies would be needed to advance our shared security goals and promote the legitimate flow of people and goods across our borders, making a "smart and secure" border with very high-tech surveillance with a GPS system. And how many American truckers will be replaced by Mexicans because the Mexican drivers are paid 25-50% less than most of the domestic drivers in the United States.

This "Super Highway" will be constructed and partially financed by a highway construction company based in Madrid, Spain, called Cintra. They currently own several such toll highways, including the 407 in Toronto, Ontario. In Texas, what they now call the Trans-Texas Corridor is estimated to cost about $184 billion and will be about 4,000 miles long. Cintra has invested in this project and was promised control of the toll for the first 50 years. In March of 2002, Gov. Perry of Texas met with the Governor of Mexico and they signed an agreement to extend the Trans-Texas Corridor into Mexico which would benefit only the global corporations.

The real ID act

This legislation was intended to deter terrorism. The ultimate enforcement mechanism for the NAU is a police state and the tools required for a police state are antiterrorist laws. Antiterrorist laws are just deceitful means to strip the people of their liberties in order to promote a so-called security. Part of the plan of this Canada-USA-Mexico Task Force is to establish the continent-wide customs union with a common approach to trade, energy, emigration, law enforcement and security that would virtually eliminate existing national borders.

In May 2005, President Bush signed the Real ID Act, which will come into effect in May 2008. This card (or license) will be needed to cross the borders in the United States, as well as open a bank account, collect Social Security or any other government service. Without this card, you will not even be able to enter a Federal building or board a plane.

The Department of Homeland Security states that it is proposing "to establish minimum standards for State-issued driver's licenses and identification cards that Federal agencies would accept. This rule proposes standards to meet the minimum requirements of the REAL ID Act of 2005, including: information and security features that must be incorporated into each card, application information to establish the identity and immigration status of an applicant before a card can be issued, and physical security standards for locations where driver's licenses and applicable identification cards are issued".

"The expansion will continue," says a report from the Department for Homeland Security, "to the admission of thousands of Border Patrol officers each year." It prompts one to ask why they are expecting such a need for manpower on the borders of America.

Besides the extra manpower, security measures include advanced technology for law enforcement to assist with criminal and security investigations. In fact, any form of non-compliance with the North American Union may be construed as criminal behavior.

The Insurrection Act

President Bush signed a law in November of 2006 that allows the President of the United States to implement martial law. The revision of the Insurrection Act now allows the current president of the United States to state a public emergency and station troops anywhere in America and take a control of state-based National Guard platoons without the consent or approval of the local authorities with the intention or design to suppress public disorder.

A trilateral partnership will also allow any two countries to move forward on controversial issues such as euthanasia and same-sex marriage and would create a path for the third country to join later on. A classic example of the influence of the European Union on the issue of abortion is the recent conflict of the EU versus Poland on the occasion of the World Congress of Families.

The Global Elite wants to remove all barriers between countries to facilitate trade, etc. In November 13, 1993, President Bill Clinton said that NAFTA would quickly expand to include not only Mexico but the rest of Latin America as well. With the economic collapse, many South American countries like Ecuador, El Salvador, Panama, and the British Virgin Islands have been forced to abandon their sovereign currency for that of the U.S. dollar, which already puts their economies under the control of the International Bankers. The next step will be the "Amero" dollar. Other nations have succeeded to keep their currency, but they struggle economically.

The solution proposed by Bush and International Bankers is to push for the Central American Free Trade Agreement (CAFTA) to be passed in Congress. Together CAFTA and NAFTA would create a huge economic block which would be the integration of the Americas or an "American Union", which leads us towards a path of global governance. The Bush administration has also targeted the Middle East to be the next continent in the democratic expansion. This means the grouping of the so-called liberated countries in the Middle East in accordance with the Middle East Free Trade Agreement (MEFTA) that was proposed and approved by Congress in 2003.

All these new human rights are pushed by the United Nations global constitution overriding our own constitution. Let us inform ourselves about this issue, and spread the message to all those around us. The true patriots MUST know what is happening, before it is too late for us to do anything about it. The national sovereignty of our country is at stake. Whether we go into the next century as an electronic global police state or as free human beings, it all depends on the active role we take now. Forewarned is forearmed! Make it a duty to order some leaflets to alert our countries of the secretive plot of the Council on Foreign Relations-Committee of 300-Illuminati.

Pierre Marchildon

WHAT IS NAFTA?

On September 14, 1993, President Bill Clinton signed an agreement for a proposal called the North American Free Trade Agreement. His promise to the American people was that NAFTA would create more jobs in the United States but in actuality, by 2006, the NAFTA policy cost the United States over a million jobs.

Many people do not realize that the true function of NAFTA has nothing to do with the creation of jobs, but instead it is part of a destructive plan to completely change our form of government into nothing less than a "New World Order", which had been advocated by many of Clinton's predecessors. President George H. W. Bush admitted in many of his presidential speeches to being highly in favor of this idea. The agreements that NAFTA has continued to implement since its creation in 1993, (these policies are outlined in its lengthy text and are available on the internet, www.nafta.org) is just part of an ongoing project that slowly shifts all power from all the national, state and local government to a regional institution or global tribunal or court. In short, the North American Free Trade Agreement was just another step toward the elimination of our Constitution, sovereignty and freedom. The United States Congress will not have any control over policy, but will have to submit to a regional or global tribunal. The sovereignty of nations is completely compromised in the process of the integration of countries.

The lowest level of integration among the different countries involved, is the removal of each country's separate tariffs and quotas, then to the addition of common external tariffs in which a customs union is then created. The next step is the creation of a universal market where all the goods, services and people of the country are able to move freely. In other words, a borderless union. The development of institutions and economic fusion is then put in place, which naturally brings about the next step, that would be political union or mergers, or the implementation of a North American Union.

Some who plot behind closed doors

"For more than a century ideological extremists at either end of the political spectrum have seized upon well-publicized incidents such as my encounter with Castro to attack the Rockefeller family for the inordinate influence they claim we wield over American political and economic institutions. Some even believe we are part of a secret cabal working against the best interests of the United States, characterizing my family and me as 'internationalists' and of conspiring with others around the world to build a more integrated global political and economic structure – one world, if you will. If that's the charge, I stand guilty, and I am proud of it." David Rockefeller, taken from his own book, Memoirs (2002).

"NAFTA will represent the most creative step toward a new world order taken by any group of countries since the end of the Cold War, and the first step toward an even larger vision of a free-trade zone for the entire Western Hemisphere...(NAFTA) is not a conventional trade agreement, but the architecture of a new international system." Former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger (CFR) in a Los Angeles Times column, July 18, 1993.

"Eventually, our long-range objective (with NAFTA) is to establish with the United States, but also with Canada, our other regional partner, an ensemble of connections and institutions similar to those created by the European Union." Mexican President Vicente Fox in Madrid, May 16, 2002.

"Reformist Mexican President Vicente Fox raises eyebrows with his suggestion that over a decade or two NAFTA should evolve into something like the European Union, with open borders for not only goods and investment but also people. He can rest assured that there is one voice north of the Rio Grande that supports his vision. To wit, this newspaper." Wall Street Journal editor Robert Bartley (CFR) in a July 2, 2001 editorial entitled "Open NAFTA Borders? Why Not?"

"NAFTA was merely the first draft of an economic constitution for North America... Although NAFTA fueled the train of continental integration, it did not provide conductors to guide it...The European experience with integration has much to teach North American policymakers." Prof. Robert A. Pastor (CFR) in Foreign Affairs, January/February 2004, Pastor is author of Toward a North American Community: Lessons from the Old World to the New. Since 2002, he is Professor of International Relations at American University and aids that institution in its goal to become the nation's first global university. He is also Vice Chair of the Council on Foreign Relations Task Force on North America

"With respect to U.S. policy, when it comes to our role as a member of the (UN) Security Council we obviously are bound by UN resolutions." Secretary of State Colin Powell (CFR) in remarks to reporters at UN Headquarters, February 14, 2001.

"We cannot leap into world government in one quick step...The precondition for eventual globalization – genuine globalization – is progressive regionalization." Former National Security Adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski expressed his view of regionalism at Mikhail Gorbachev's October 1995 State of the World Forum.

"The United Nations represents not a final stage of world order, but only a primitive stage. Therefore its primary task is to create the conditions which will make possible a more highly developed organization." John Foster Dulles (CFR) in War and Peace, 1950. Dulles participated in the San Francisco Conference that founded the United Nations and served as secretary of state in the Eisenhower administration.

Hemispheric institutions, including the OAS (Organization of American States) and Inter-American Development Bank and now the NAFTA institutions, can be forged into the vital mechanisms of hemispheric governance. Then-National Security Adviser Anthony Lake recommended this course of action in a November 29, 1993 memo to President Bill Clinton.

September 11, 1990 — President Bush calls the Gulf War an opportunity for the New World Order. In an address to Congress entitled Toward a New World Order, Mr. Bush says: "The crisis in the Persian Gulf offers a rare opportunity to move toward an historic period of cooperation.

Out of these troubled times... a new world order can emerge in which the nations of the world, east and west, north and south, can prosper and live in harmony... Today the new world is struggling to be born."

October 1, 1990 — In a U.N. address, President Bush speaks of the "collective strength of the world community expressed by the U.N... a historic movement towards a new world order...a new partnership of nations... a time when humankind came into its own... to bring about a revolution of the spirit and the mind and begin a journey into a... new age."

1991 — President Bush praises the New World Order in a State of Union Message: "What is at stake is more than one small country, it is a big idea — a new world order... to achieve the universal aspirations of mankind... based on shared principles and the rule of law... The illumination of a thousand points of light... The winds of change are with us now."

1993 — A second Parliament of World Religions is held in Chicago on the 100th anniversary of the first. Like the first convention, this one seeks to join all the religions of the world into "one harmonious whole," but it wants to make them "merge back into their original element." Traditional beliefs of monotheistic religions such as Christianity are considered incompatible with individual "enlightenment", and must be drastically altered.

June, 1991 — The Council on Foreign Relations co-sponsors an assembly "Rethinking America's Security: Beyond Cold War to New World Order" which is attended by 65 prestigious members of government, labor, academia, the media, military, and the professions from nine countries. Later, several of the conference participants joined some 100 other world leaders for another closed door meeting of the Bilderberg Society in Baden Baden, Germany. The Bilderbergers also exert considerable clout in determining the foreign policies of their respective governments. While at that meeting, David Rockefeller said in a speech:

"We are grateful to the Washington Post, The New York Times, Time Magazine and other great publications whose directors have attended our meetings and respected their promises of discretion for almost forty years. It would have been impossible for us to develop our plan for the world if we had been subjected to the lights of publicity during those years. But, the world is now more sophisticated and prepared to march towards a world government. The supranational sovereignty of an intellectual elite and world bankers is surely preferable to the national auto-determination practiced in past centuries."

Late July, 1991— On a Cable News Network program, CFR member and former CIA director Stanfield Turner (Rhodes scholar), when asked about Iraq, responded: "We have a much bigger objective. We've got to look at the long run here. This is an example — the situation between the United Nations and Iraq — where the United Nations is deliberately intruding into the sovereignty of a sovereign nation... Now this is a marvelous precedent (to be used in) all countries of the world..."

1992 — The Twilight of Sovereignty by CFR member (and former Citicorp Chairman) Walter Wriston is published, in which he claims: "A truly global economy will require... compromises of national sovereignty... There is no escaping the system."

To realize the full possibilities of this economy, we must reach beyond our own borders, to shape the revolution that is tearing down barriers and building new networks among nations and individuals, and economies and cultures: globalization. It's the central reality of our time." President William Clinton.

"No generation has had the opportunity, as we now have, to build a global economy that leaves no-one behind. It is a wonderful opportunity, but also a profound responsibility." President William Clinton.

1992 — President Bush addressing the General Assembly of the U.N said: "It is the sacred principles enshrined in the United Nations charter to which the American people will henceforth pledge their allegiance."

Zbigniew Brzezinski

May 21, 1992 – In an address to the Bilderberger organization meeting in Evian, France, former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger declares: "Today Americans would be outraged if U.N. troops entered Los Angeles to restore order; tomorrow they will be grateful! This is especially true if they were told there was an outside threat from beyond, whether real or promulgated, that threatened our very existence. It is then that all peoples of the world will plead with world leaders to deliver them from this evil. The one thing every man fears is the unknown. When presented with this scenario, individual rights will be willingly relinquished for the guarantee of their well being granted to them by their world government."

"We have before us the opportunity to forge for ourselves and for future generations a new world order, a world where the rule of law, not the rule of the jungle, governs the conduct of nations. When we are successful, and we will be, we have a real chance at this new world order, an order in which a credible United Nations can use its peace-keeping role to fulfill the promise and vision of the U.N.'s founders." President George Bush, 1991.

"We've worked hard to comply with the WTO (World Trade Organization). I think it's important that all nations comply with WTO rulings. I'll work with Congress to get into compliance." President George W. Bush answering a question about a WTO ruling against the United States, November 26, 2004.

"The new century demands new partnerships for peace and security. The United Nations plays a crucial role, with allies sharing burdens America might otherwise bear alone. America needs a strong and effective U.N. I want to work with this new Congress to pay our dues and our debts. We must continue to support security and stability in Europe and Asia – expanding NATO and defining its new missions, maintaining our alliance with Japan, with Korea, with our other Asian allies, and engaging China." President William Clinton, State of the Union Address 1999.

The New World Order — A History

In 1773 Mayer Amschel Rothschild assembled twelve of his most influential friends, and convinced them that if they all pool their resources together, they can rule the world. This meeting took place in Frankfurt, Germany. Rothschild also informed his friends that he had found the perfect candidate, an individual of incredible intellect and ingenuity, to lead the organization he has planned—Adam Weishaupt.

Adam Weishaupt

In May 1, 1776 – Adam Weishaupt (code named Spartacus) established a secret society called the Order of the Illuminati. Weishaupt was a Professor of Canon Law at the University of Ingolstadt in Bavaria, which is part of Germany. The goal of the Illuminati is the establishment of a New World Order. Their objectives are as follows:

- 1) Abolition of all ordered governments
- 2) Abolition of private property
- 3) Abolition of inheritance
- 4) Abolition of patriotism
- 5) Abolition of the family
- 6) Abolition of religion
- 7) Creation of a world government

In July of 1782 – The Order of the Illuminati joins forces with Freemasonry at the Congress of Wilhelmsbad. The Comte de Virieu, an attendee at the conference, comes away visibly shaken. From this time on, according to his biographer, “the Comte de Virieu could only speak of Freemasonry with horror.”

In 1785 an Illuminati courier named Lanze was struck by lightning, and killed while traveling by horseback through the town of Ratisbon. When Bavarian officials examined the contents of his saddle bags, they discovered the existence of the Order of the Illuminati, and found plans detailing the upcoming French Revolution.

In 1796 Freemasonry became a major issue in the presidential election in the United States. John Adams won the election by opposing Masonry, and his son, John Quincy Adams, warned of the dire threat to the nation posed by the Masonic Lodges: “I do conscientiously and sincerely believe that the Order of Freemasonry, if not the greatest, is one of the greatest moral and political evils under which the Union is now laboring.”

In 1828, Mayer Amschel Rothschild, who financed the Illuminati, expresses his utter contempt for national governments which attempt to regulate International Bankers such as him: “Allow me to issue and control the money of a nation, and I care not who writes the laws.”

In 1848 Moses Mordecai Marx Levy, alias Karl Marx, writes “The Communist Manifesto.” Marx is a member of an Illuminati front organization called the League of the Just. He not only advocates economic and political changes; he advocates moral and spiritual changes as well. He believes the family should be abolished, and that all children should be raised by a central authority.

In Jan. 22, 1870 the contents of a letter to Italian revolutionary leader Giuseppe Mazzini, Albert Pike – Sovereign Grand Commander of the Southern Jurisdiction of the Scottish Rite of Freemasonry – announces the establishment of a secret society within a secret society: This ultra-secret organization is called The New and Reformed Paladian Rite.

In 1875 Russian occultist Helena Petrovna Blavatsky founds the Theosophical Society. She insists that the Christians have it all backwards – that Satan is good, and God is evil. This philosophy is taken up by the Masonic order.

In 1889 Albert Pike issued instructions to the 23 Supreme Councils of the world. He reveals who is the true object of Masonic worship: “To you, Sovereign Grand Instructors General, we say this, that you may repeat it to the Brethren of the 32nd, 31st and 30th degrees: The Mason- ic religion should be, by all of us initiates of the high degrees, maintained in the purity of the Luciferian doctrine.”

Dec. 23, 1913 – The Federal Reserve (neither federal nor a reserve – it’s a privately owned institution) is created. It was planned at a secret meeting in 1910 on Jekyll Island, Georgia, by a group of bankers and politicians, including Col. House. This transfers the power to create money from the American Government to a private group of bankers. The Federal Reserve Act is hastily passed just before the Christmas break. Three years after signing the Federal Reserve Act into law, President Woodrow Wilson observes: “I am a most unhappy man. I have unwittingly ruined my country.”

1920-1931 – Louis T. McFadden is Chairman of the House Committee on Banking and Currency. Concerning the Federal Reserve, Congressman McFadden notes: “When the Federal Reserve Act was passed, the people of these United States did not perceive that a world banking system was being set up here. A super-state controlled by International Bankers and international industrialists acting together to enslave the world for their own pleasure.”

Concerning the Great Depression and the country’s acceptance of FDR’s New Deal, he asserts: “It was no accident. It was a carefully contrived occurrence. The International Bankers sought to bring about a condition of despair here so they might emerge as the rulers of us all.”

Col. House reorganizes the American branch of the Institute of International Affairs into the Council on Foreign Relations (CFR) in 1921. (For the past 60 years, 80% of the top positions in every administration – whether Democrat or Republican – have been occupied by members of this organization.)

The CFR endorses World Government in its magazine “Foreign Affairs on December 15, 1922.” Author Philip Kerr states: “Obviously there is going to be no peace nor prosperity for mankind as long as the earth remains divided into 50 or 60 independent states, until some kind of international system is created. The real problem today is that of world government.”

June 28, 1945 – U.S. President Harry Truman endorses world government in a speech: “It will be just as easy for nations to get along in a republic of the world as it is for us to get along in a republic of the United States.”

October 24, 1945 – The United Nations Charter becomes effective. Also on October 24, Senator Glen Taylor (D-Idaho) introduces Senate Resolution 183, calling upon the U.S. Senate to go on record as favoring creation of a world republic, including an international police force.

Feb. 7, 1950 – International financier and CFR member James Warburg tells a Senate Foreign Relations Subcommittee: “We shall have world government whether or not you like it — by conquest or consent.”

Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands establishes the Bilderbergers in 1954, the group consists of international politicians and bankers who meet secretly on an annual basis.

1961 – The U.S. State Department issues Document 7277, entitled “Freedom From War: The U.S. Program for General and Complete Disarmament in a Peaceful World.” It details a three-stage plan to disarm all nations and arm the U.N. with the final stage in which “no state would have the military power to challenge the progressively strengthened U.N. Peace Force.”

1970 -- Education and the mass media promote world order. In Thinking About A New World Order for the Decade 1990, author Ian Baldwin, Jr. asserts that: “...the World Law Fund has begun a worldwide research and educational program that will introduce a new, emerging discipline -- world order -- into educational curricula throughout the world...and to concentrate some of its energies on bringing basic world order concepts into the mass media again on a worldwide level.”

In July of 1973, International banker and staunch member of the subversive Council on Foreign Relations David Rockefeller founds a new organization called the Trilateral Commission, of which the official aim is “to harmonize the political, economic, social, and cultural relations between the three major economic regions in the world” (hence the name “Trilateral”). He invites future President Jimmy Carter to become one of the founding members. Zbigniew Brzezinski is the organization’s first director.

1973 — Humanist Manifesto II is published: “The next century can be and should be the humanistic century... we stand at the dawn of a new age... a secular society on a planetary scale... As non-theists we begin with humans not God, nature not deity... we deplore the division of humankind on nationalistic grounds... Thus we look to the development of a system of world law and a world order based upon transnational federal government... The true revolution is occurring.”

1975 — Kissinger on the Couch is published. Authors Phyllis Schlafly and former CFR member Chester Ward state: “Once the ruling members of the CFR have decided that the U.S. government should espouse a particular policy, the very substantial research facilities of the CFR are put to work to develop arguments, intellectual and emotional, to support the new policy and to confound, discredit, intellectually and politically, any opposition...”

May 12, 1989 — President George W. Bush invites the Soviets to join World Order. Speaking to the graduating class at Texas A&M University, Mr. Bush states that the United States is ready to welcome the Soviet Union “back into the world order.”

George H. W. Bush

September 11, 1990 — President Bush calls the Gulf War an opportunity for the New World Order. In an address to Congress entitled Toward a New World Order, Mr. Bush says: “The crisis in the Persian Gulf offers a rare opportunity to move toward an historic period of cooperation. Out of these troubled times... a new world order can emerge in which the nations of the world, east and west, north and south, can prosper and live in harmony... Today the new world is struggling to be born.”

October 1, 1990 — In a U.N. address, President Bush speaks of the “collective strength of the world community expressed by the U.N... a historic movement towards a new world order... a new partnership of nations... a time when humankind came into its own... to bring about a revolution of the spirit and the mind and begin a journey into a... new age.”

The goal of a world government is almost achieved in Europe with the Single European Act (Maastricht Treaty) that was implemented in 1993, requiring all the member countries of the European Community to abolish their trade barriers, and to hand over their monetary and fiscal policies to the technocrats of the European Commission in Brussels, Belgium.

As regards the North American block, the merger of its member countries is well under way with the passage of free trade between Canada and the U.S.A., and then Mexico and the introduction of the Security and Prosperity Partnership.

Monsignor Schooyans denounces the New World Order

Here are excerpts from a book by Michel Schooyans titled "The hidden face of the UN" in which he denounces the drive of the United Nations for a world government and total dictatorship. The translation is from "Michael."

The 20th Century saw dictatorships that subjected entire nations to violence, terror, repression, suspicion, and corruption. One only has to think about the countries that faced the horrors of Communism, Fascism, and Nazism. However, the kind of totalitarianism that the present United Nations wants to impose on a global scale is absolute bondage. This totalitarian ideology kills the capacity to distinguish good from evil.

Human rights inverted

In 1948, the United Nations worked out and ratified the "Universal Declaration of Human Rights", which recognized the dignity and primacy of the human person. Today, the UN and some of its agencies behave more and more openly as if they had received a mandate to develop a conception of human rights that is radically different from that expressed in 1948.

According to the UN, man is a fragment of the cosmos, and has no eternal destiny. Man the product of evolution, and his final destiny is death. He is but an individual in search of pleasures, unable to recognize truth.

This is the source of the new "human rights" of the UN. These new rights are no longer recognized and declared; they are rather imposed, and are the expression of the will of the mightiest. Man must revere Mother-Earth, Gaia (the goddess of the earth in Greek mythology), in place of God, his Creator and the Creator of earth.

The International Criminal Court

Under the pressure of some radical feminist and homosexual movements, the competence of the International Criminal Court, created on July 18, 1998, could be extended to "crimes" against the so-called new human rights. For example, to the extent that abortion, homosexuality and euthanasia are recognized as "new rights", the opponents to these rights could be judged and sentenced by the International Criminal Court.

Secularization

What is meant by secularization is all the groups that militate for the disappearance of all that pertains to God and religion. Freemasonry is one of those organizations that militate in favor of secularization. Almost every member of the UN is a Freemason.

What these secularists want is to silence the Church, because she announces a true message, and because she admits that God revealed Himself through His Divine Son Jesus Christ. Political power wants to rule society and consciences by allowing only religions controlled by the State, like in Communist China.

The UN no longer hides its wish to control consciences. There is, for example, a strange organization, the "United Initiative of Religions", founded by an Episcopal bishop, William E. Swing, an ardent supporter of the New Age, who wants to start a world religion that would soon forbid the existence of any other religion. It is in the interest of the UN octopus to support this plan, for globalization is not limited to politics or economics; it also concerns the "global soul".

These circles are dreaming of a new global ethics. This theme was developed by Hans Kung, a theologian condemned by Rome and by the world parliament of religions. This is the spirit of revolution in its pantheist form.

Concentration of power

Acting on his own, the Secretary General of the United Nations strives to create a world elite where is concentrated, in an unprecedented way, political, economic, military and psychosocial powers. This last power includes the news media, knowledge, know-how, ideology, law, and religion. Under the cover of shared responsibility and durable development, the UN is settling up a super-centralized control of these four factors of power to rule the world and impose itself as the undisputed centre that governs every factor of power.

The pyramid-shaped system of standards adopted by the UN has transformed this organization into a fantastic machine whose role is to control lives, and therefore control individuals, families and States. National States must accept being the satellites of the World State, and be replaced by the head of the "pyramid". This is what the plan for Global Governance is all about.

These new "human rights" promoted by the UN explain the campaign of attacks against the presence of an observer from the Holy See (Vatican) at the UN. They would like to silence the Vatican because its stand is not based on consensus, but on truth. The Church cannot accept that any reference to truth is chased from laws. These pressures against the Church are guided and financed by secularist groups, in order to outlaw from the world community the Church and Christians. These secular circles want the triumph of intolerant agnosticism.

The present UN is doomed

The UN is doomed because it is based on a structure of sin. This UN that rejects the values contained in the Declaration of 1948 has no future. To survive, the UN needs the truth, the truth that the Church offers about man, his divine origin, his destiny – which is eternal bliss. The UN needs the Church and Christians because it needs to be freed from lies and violence. One must stop suppressing the truth. Stop depreciating the family! Stop intruding into the intimacy of couples to "administer" their inalienable right to transmit life! Stop crushing the weakest! Stop limiting the sovereignty of nations! Stop installing a globalization that, controlling the world economy, will control every human being! Stop the insidious construction of a world government that is above every person and nation! Stop imposing to mankind a system of ideological domestication through the control of the media! Stop controlling the world by using a perverted conception of the law!

A senseless war

The Church must proclaim today that a new war has begun: an all-out war against man. A war that wants to first mutilate man, and then destroy him. A war that wants to alienate man from his reason and will, in which his prodigious resemblance to God is expressed. A senseless war where the price of the death of God is the death of man.

This is the privilege and mission of Christians to be watchers and beacons, to show to everyone the way to follow to avoid snares and traps, and above all, to be witnesses of hope.

Msgr. Michel Schooyans

Msgr. Schooyans and globalization

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 29, 2000 (Catholic World News) – Msgr. Michel Schooyans, a noted Belgian political theorist, has expressed serious misgivings about the process of "globalization" as it is seen by the United Nations leadership.

Msgr. Schooyans offered his thoughts to this week's Vatican conference on globalization and the family. He suggested that, in the eyes of UN officials, globalization means "a concentration of power that has the odor of totalitarianism." The UN, the Belgian professor observed, "thinks that the world in its entirety has more value than the person." He added that according to this view – which he said is heavily influenced by New Age thinking – Christian humanism "has to be abandoned and rejected, in order to exalt a neopagan cult of Mother Earth."

Msgr. Schooyans also said that the "Earth Charter" currently being prepared by UN officials offers clear evidence to support his charges. In that document, he reported, the human race is depicted as "a part of a vast universe in the process of evolution," and even marked today by "an unprecedented growth in population that overtaxes economic and social systems." The underlying philosophy of the Charter, he said, sees all religions – but particularly the Catholic Faith as obstacles to progress.

The UN, Msgr. Schooyans concluded, is now aiming to create a new world order over which a "super-government" would preside. This powerful new government would suppress intermediate structures, and seek "more and more centralized control of information, knowledge, technology, human life, health, commerce, politics, and law." "The Church will have no choice but to fight against such a form of globalization."

The new "Security Control" of the 21st Century

Enslaving the human race with the microchip

There is a new tracking technology that will be used to tag every product in the world. The generic name for this technology is RFID, which stands for radio frequency identification chips. RFID tags were at first shrunk to half the size of a grain of sand. On February 14, 2007, Hitachi introduced the world's smallest and thinnest RFID chips, which measure just 0.05 x 0.05 millimeters. The previous record-holder, the Hitachi mu-chip, is just 0.4 x 0.4 millimeters. Take a look, on the picture below, at the size of the mu-chip RFID tag. (Yes, it is the three tiny black squares !) Now, compare that with the new RFID tags. The "powder-type" tags are some sixty times smaller (see the picture below right). The new RFID chips have a 128-bit ROM for storing a unique 38 digit number, like their predecessor.

They listen for a radio query and respond by transmitting their unique ID code. As you exit a store with items that have this RFID tag, RFID readers at the doorways will record the items you bought, automatically billing your account without the benefit of cash. Computers at the door will also pick up your GPS-enabled chip for your ID and match the e-PC code to bill your account.

any product, or be incorporated into thin paper, like that used in money.

Now it was reported in the January 9, 2007 issue of "The Canadian" in an article by Lucien Desjardins that doctors in the United States and Europe are secretly moving to have the microchip implanted in newborns. It was revealed by a Dr. Kilde that then Prime Minister Olof Palme of Sweden had already given permission back in 1973 to implant prisoners, and Data Inspection's ex-Director General Jan Freese revealed that nursing-home patients were implanted in the mid-1980s.

One bad thing about having a microchip implanted in oneself is that fact that you could then be followed anywhere in the world. According to Dr. Kilde, "Today's microchips operate by means of low-frequency radio waves that target them.

With the help of satellites, the implanted person can be tracked anywhere on the globe." According to Dr. Kilde, brain functions can also be remotely monitored by supercomputers and even altered through the changing of frequencies.

In June of 2004 some government workers in Mexico, along with the former attorney general of Mexico, Rafael Macedo de la Concha, injected a microchip to have a "secure" access to restricted areas in the government buildings. Instead of using an ID card or key with the RFID inside, they simply had the chip injected into their arm. To add to that, over 1,000 Mexicans have had a microchip implanted inside them for medical reasons.

At the Baja Beach Club in Barcelona, you can find an exclusive item added to the menu, in the form of a microchip about the size of a grain of rice. This is another instance in which the Verichip is being used for identification purposes, when people enter the club to buy drinks it keeps a count of the customer's expenditures and identification. The RFID is injected by a nurse under a local anesthetic upon the customer's arrival to the club.

This particular chip is dormant unless a tag-reader is waved close to the customer's arm, in which case a radio signal makes the chip transmit the identification number which is used to get information about the customer from a database.

The Hackensack Medical University in New Jersey is promoting the VeriMed, which is the same thing as Verichip. Dr. Joseph Fulman is the Chairman of the Emergency Medicine at Hackensack University. Recent reports given on their website indicate that 620 hospitals around the country have installed the technology and over 1,300 doctors have chosen to over VeriMed to their patients. (www.verimedinfo.com)

New airport technology

At the University College London, the EU is currently funding a project called the "Optag" system which will be used to "enhance airport security, safety and efficiency". These Optag RFID's would ensure that all passengers are monitored by video as soon as they pass through the terminal buildings. Many of these different forms of RFID tags are currently being used by large corporations, and many more will join in the near future.

The global plan

A few months back, Hollywood director and documentary film maker Aaron Russo stated on a radio interview that he was approached by Nick Rockefeller and asked to join the Council on Foreign Relations (CFR). Russo refused, but he asked Rockefeller: "What's the point of all this? You have all the money in the world you need, you have all the power you need, so what's the point, what's the end goal?" Rockefeller replied (paraphrasing): "The end goal is to get everybody chipped, to control the whole society, to have the bankers and the elite people control the world."

Some may argue that there is no way whole populations will accept being micro-chipped, that it sounds too much like a science-fiction fantasy. Yet we know that this is exactly what the program of the one world people is !

Possible approaches

So what kind of approach will they take to make us accept the microchip? Kevin Haggerty wrote an article entitled "One generation is all they need" in the Dec, 10, 2006 issue of The Toronto Star, giving a scenario of chips being first implanted in members of stigmatized groups like pedophiles, terrorists, drug dealers, people society considers to be the "worst of the worst." Then accused individuals will be tagged to stop them from fleeing justice. Prisoners will welcome this development, since only chipped inmates will be eligible for parole, weekend release, or community sentences.

But this will only cover a small segment of society. Other stigmatized groups will therefore have to be targeted, like those on welfare, for example. Welfare recipients will need to be monitored to reduce fraud, enhance efficiency, and to ensure that the poor do not receive "undeserved" benefits.

Employers will then start to expect implants as a condition for getting a job. The U.S. military will lead the way by requiring chips for all soldiers as a means to enhance battlefield command and control – and to identify human remains. Then the massive security sector will follow.

Security guards, police officers, and correctional workers will all be expected to have a chip. Individuals with sensitive jobs will find themselves in the same position. The media will then probably build up a case about a child that was abducted and abused or murdered so that parents will want all their children to be chipped. Hospitals will then begin to require a chip in order to receive medical treatment.

Special deals will be offered to those who are chipped. Companies will offer discounts to individuals who pay by using funds stored on their embedded chip. New household technology will require a chip to operate everyday household appliances. Finding a computer or appliance that will run through old-fashioned "hands on" technology will become progressively more difficult. Having a chip will almost have to be a must to participate in the main dynamics of modern life, like shopping and driving.

Those who still refuse to take the chip will be accused to trying to hide something. They will also have to constantly deal with delays and inconveniences reserved for the un-chipped.

Then, as a last resort, those who still refuse to take the chip will be declared enemies of the state and brought to special camps where they will be tortured and even murdered if they do not submit to the "Antichrist" who will require all inhabitants of the earth to be chipped. So what could start as being a supposedly good thing will end up becoming a way to enslave mankind.

Refuse the microchip

Without this new high-tech identification for the new global cashless electronic society, you will not be identified so you will not be able to buy or sell. Everyone should refuse to take the microchip, for it has been proven in laboratory tests that the waves emitted by the chip could change human behavior, affect brain waves, and move parts of your body against your will.

Melvin Sickler

One of the largest retail corporations is Wal-Mart, and they have adopted the RFID technology in their stores. In fact, in 2004 they had commissioned their suppliers to be in compliance with RFID by the end of the year, or they would not accept them as suppliers. Suppliers then invested huge amounts of money to install the new technology in their warehouses and products, Proctor and Gamble being one of the first of their suppliers to do so.

Smart Dust

There is another microchip called Smart Dust, and it's made up of thousands of tiny sensors called mote's, that have wireless communications devices that are attached to them and they are able to network themselves automatically. They are able to detect vibration, chemicals, radiation, biological agents, explosives, footsteps, voices, still images, and even video images and be able to transmit all gathered information of collection stations.

They are able to measure light and temperature, and when they are clustered together they are able to create very flexible, low-power networks. Currently experiments on humans have begun to apply the use of these motes to detect the onset of health problems, cancer, for example.

The United States Department of Defense has pledged 1.2 million for experiments with the Smart Dust. And a $127 million dollar project called Future Combat Systems is studying the use of "a new generation of soldiers" with the development of this nanotechnology they would be able to use the motes to gather intelligence, search buildings or blow them up.

These devices could also be used to identify and track people. For example, suppose you participated in some sort of protest or other organized activity. If police agencies sprinkled these tags around, every individual could be tracked and later identified at leisure with powerful tag scanners. This new RFID "powder" is so small that it can be worked into

by Gilberte Côté-Mercier

Let us imagine an insolated island, far away from the rest of the world and living on this island are ten men. These ten men are good workers, and they know how to take advantage of the riches of the island.

Each man exercises his trade, Peter cultivates the earth and Louis breeds animals... etc.

One day, Peter is tired of eating just vegetables so he goes to find Louis to ask him to exchange a calf with some potatoes.

But Louis does not like potatoes, and so he refuses to give him the calf.

But Peter says, "Please, Louis, give me the calf in exchange for the potatoes!" Louis replies, "What will you give me in return?" "I can give you twenty bags of potatoes."

"But they do not interest me," says Louis, "so I do not want to make the trade."

So Peter returns home with nothing, and has to resign himself to eating vegetables for a while longer. Meanwhile, Louis for his part, had too many cows. He really would have liked to exchange them for something else (something that he likes) but not potatoes.

It is the same situation each time one of the ten wants to exchange with the others. Either it is difficult to please the tastes of each one, or it is not the right time. Or even, it's very difficult to calculate: sometime they would have to separate a calf in two in order to adjust to the need.

Seeing the difficulties they have in trying to make an arrangement, the ten inhabitants of the island gather together in a meeting to discuss the problem.

They agree that while the island gives them everything that they need, and it is not the riches that they are lacking, nor the work, but something else.

What are they missing that would make it easier to exchange their products more efficiently? So they all agree that it is money that is missing on the island.

What a discovery! It is money that is missing on the island.

As they have common sense, and they did not meet to just discuss, they decide that since it is money that is missing, what they then need to do is create money.

Our ten men do not do like the governments today, when they find out that money is lacking in the country, and conclude that they need to increase taxes or start a war. So they then decide to create money.

"Let us make money for ourselves?" they say.

"We will make money, we, the men of this island." They do not think for a moment about going to find spirits from another world or men from other countries to make the money for them. They decide to make it for themselves.

"In fact, among us we have James, who was formerly a bank manager, and he knows how to count. James, make us some money."

And James says, "Perfect, I can make you some money. How much money do you need on the island, in order that business may go well?"

They replied, "If we could have $1,000 on the island, the exchanges could be made quite smoothly. So James, create the money for us, $100 for each person.

So James gets to work. He takes a book, writes down Peter's name in this book, and puts the amount into Peter's credit $100. Then, he hands the credit book over to Peter, telling him:

"Here is your $100, Peter. It is a money of numbers, the most modern kind. This is money that you can not lose, and nobody can steal it. Peter, I am lending you $100 and at the end of year, you will reimburse me with the entire amount, and plus $7.00 interest."

Peter replied, "What, you are lending me $100? And you want me to reimburse you the $100 plus interest? You must be joking, James, it is as if the money that you have created belongs to you alone, since you want me to pay it back to you.

You are mistaken, we asked you to make money for us, and not for you. You will receive your share ($100) like the others, but the $1000 does not belong to you. If you lend us $100 with the obligation to pay you back, it is as if the entire $1000 belonged to you."

But James says, "That is the way money is created in civilized countries!"

Peter replies, "Oh, that is the way money is created in civilized countries! That is probably why life is so nice in civilized countries, where people die of hunger in front of abundance, and where people go to war to regulate the exchange of money.

Well then, this kind of civilization does not interest us, James. You will create the money for all of us, that means that you will create $100 for each one of us which you will simple give us."

So James understood, and gave each man a credit book, with $100 listed in the credit column.

On the island, they called this $100 the dividend of the island and it is based on the production of the island. It is brand new money that is created by James' pen that is necessary to allow the inhabitants to exchange their products.

And so the year goes by very well on the island. There are no longer arguments at the moment of the exchange of goods.

Businesses is prospering so much on the island that the $1,000 is becoming insufficient to buy all that is on sale, since production has increased quite a bit. There has been great progress on the island.

At the end of the year, the ten men hold a meeting. They consider their problem, and notice that the money they created at the beginning of the year had done them much good, but that they are still lacking money on the island, considering the trade development.

They still lack money, and they therefore order James to create new money for them.

Peter says: "If we receive $25.00 each, that would be sufficient for now." And so James starts working to create $25.00 for everyone, and he puts down the amount in the credit column of everyone's credit book.

Peter, who worked more than Louis during the year, had the amount of $150.00 in his credit book, he receives $25.00, and so has the total of $175.00.

Louis, who had been sick during the year, had the amount of $50.00 at the end of the year, and he also received $25.00. That leaves him with $75.00.

The $25.00 that everyone received added to everyone's credit is the dividend of the year on the island. It is proportional to the island's progress.

Our ten men created the money themselves. They did not ask a usurer to create the money for them. They had more confidence in themselves, they that built the island, then in strangers who would come to exploit the producers of the island.

Our ten men create the money for themselves. What they create is not debts to pay back, but dividends to circulate. The credit that circulates on the island is a social credit, based on the production of the island and on the confidence that the island's inhabitants have in their small society. This credit is created by the island's inhabitants for their own use.

When this island is a country and the islands people number in the millions, why shouldn't the same method be used to create the credit for the country in the same way. Why not?

Our Local Community Exchange System with local barter coupons

Local currency is designed to support local businesses by providing purchasing power to residents that will be accepted by businesses. Local currency is spreading up across the country such as the Tamworth Hour, Calgary Dollars, and Ithaca Hour in New York, etc. The concept of local currency is not new, it is being used by thousands of groups, just like ours, all across the world.

When someone needs products or services, every new member will be provided with an emailed or printed directory that will list all participating members that accept Unity for goods and services. A private agreement between members is negotiated using any combination of Canadian currency and/or Unity resulting in real savings.

The most common form of community currency that we are familiar with is that of Canadian Tire coupons. Unfortunately, Canadian Tire coupons can only be used in Canadian Tire stores across Canada whereas local currency is meant to work in local stores and between local members.

Its benefits: Support Local Economy

This currency helps to rebuild the spirit of community. The community gets together and interacts on a more personal level. We become more familiar with our neighbors and discover what is available or offered with the community money making it a point of honor to seek out and support Unity members first.

Lowers the Cost of Living

Lowers the cost of living by encouraging spending on local goods and services. Every time a Unity is spent a Canadian dollar is saved which can be applied to bills that require Canadian dollars. So in effect more Canadian dollars are available at the end of the month thereby raising your buying power for other needs.

How do I find more/get involved?

We hold a meeting once or twice a month for people who wish to participate. Ask a friend or check our contact information for the date of our next meeting.

Our meetings are community spirited with the health and growth of local people and businesses. Our number one priority is using the vast pool of knowledge and skills that our members have to benefit the local community. We also have market fairs to sell and show our goods and services available for the community.

Key Points to Think About

- 1) Everyone is welcome to participate;
- 2) Trade is usually a combination of local and federal cash;
- 3) People can contribute a variety of different skills;
- 4) Community money stays within the community with the potential to strengthen the local economy;
- 5) Helps us look after one another by putting our community first.

Local Communities can issue their own barter coupons to answer the needs of their members. Even if a stock market crash that causes money to lose all of its value, the productive capacity of the community still exists. Why should the productive capacity of any community be paralyzed by the lack of money?

These local communities are establishing themselves all over the world. In Ontario, Canada for example, there are several small local community currencies being started called UNITY. Here we give you a summary of the objective of a local currency community.

To introduce a financial initiative that is able to reach without cost to every member of the community on a monthly basis with a currency that would support local business and trade. There are no membership fees or dues, so that everyone in the community is able to join, and everyone gets an amount of barter coupons every once in a while, according to the increase of goods and services available.

To establish a local money system, it is necessary to have several people in executive positions. A president, treasurers, a secretary, and two trustees.

You start by issuing a dividend of $100 of local currency to each member of the local barter system, we can use a card system to record all the transactions and account of the balances or we could use barter coupons.

To start with, local businesses can discount their prices by whatever percent that they need to compete with other businesses, then use the local currency to replace the discount.

Have a list of all the people in the local system, as well as their businesses where the local currency would be accepted as partial payment for the goods and/or services received. There can be a list of all the members, with their services offered, and their personal information such as telephone number and email where they can be reached.

The local currency that we have introduced is more like coupons, similar to those used by Canadian Tire for example. If advertising for the member businesses is printed on the back, and the local members are able to spread the cost of printing that way, it is relatively inexpensive to print the local "coupons".

When a new business joins the local community, and agrees to accept a portion of the local currency, there is a careful calculation made of how much of the Canadian (or US) money they need to cover costs that require Canadian currency so that it does not matter how much of the local currency they accept. They usually agree to accept 10% of the local currency to start with, and then as their clientele with local currency expands, they add a higher percentage.

This local currency builds up a wonderful community spirit, a loyalty among its members. The local currency system is a wonderful way to promote a clear idea that the importance of money is really only in it's relation to the needs that it meets, in regards to the goods and services that it facilitates.

There are more than 35 countries worldwide who have installed a local currency system in various communities, in all the NAFTA, G8 and EU countries. Also Switzerland, Japan, Thailand, Australia, New Zealand, Senegal, Mexico, El Salvador, Peru, Ecuador, Columbia, Venezuela, Uruguay, Chile, Argentina, and Brazil have such systems. The governments of Mexico, Argentina, Australia and England actively support local community currency systems.

The promotion of a local currency is a wonderful way to start the implementation of a Social Credit system. The basic needs to each individual must be met, and according to the teachings of the Catholic Church's Social Doctrine; each person must by right of his natural heritage as a being created by God, be guaranteed the necessities of life in order to live with the dignity that befits a person created in the image and likeness of God.
