

Duality and Love

It seems the more I become more observant of what is going on around me the clearer I see what is happening and why. We are immersed in the reality of duality, where love has been replaced or overlaid with positive or negative aspects of duality. To get your bearings right about love, just remember love is unconditional and non-judging. Now try living by those virtues of love and watch the vultures start circling. It's so true that those who choose to live from the perspective of love are destroyed by the system of duality. Yet it does not have to be this way and it was never meant to be. Duality is based upon fear where we view the world as being things separate from ourselves rather than through the eyes of love, where we see how we are connected to all that exists.

Duality is not necessarily a bad thing; the problems associated with it are a result of those disconnected from infinite love and thus have no empathy for others. The people who are driving the SYSTEM have no empathy and it is not about a few enslaving humanity, there are a lot of people doing it at various levels. They don't mind being a slave so long as they get enough money to have all the best the world has to offer, and then their actions of enslaving others have no consequence to them, because of what it provides them. In truth it is not about love at all it is all about fear, masked by the idea of love. Love is unconditional and where you see conditions thus rules it is not love, but fear. Slavery has been masked as being normal as everyone is involved in it, whether they realize it or not. It simply has taken on different forms over time, but predominate aspect of fear.

Thus it is self evident that all law is based on fear and freedom is based upon love. It does not get any simpler than that. Yet the programming of fear in our lives is incredible. The television has to be the most effective method of mind control ever created, because it spews all aspects of fear and its companion fiction at you while maintaining a 30 Hz flicker rate which puts you into an alpha state. So when step outside you see the same system of control dominating everything you do and don't question it. In fact as I mentioned above, the SYSTEM allows for about 1% of the population to gain immense benefits from enslaving humanity. The corporate structures we are slaves too, siphon the real wealth of humanity into the hands of the few, leaving a lot of people very poor in comparison. In some African Countries of course this ratio may be 1 out of thousand as they do not let enough money circulate in the economy to allow for jobs. This of course is a joke, because the money is created out of thin air to begin with and there should never be a lack of money. Money is a control system of fear.

Love is when we see each other as being one. In a relationship you see your partner as a being part of you extending your perceptions and abilities to explore the world and be one with each other. Love does not have boundaries and thus in this sense of connection extends to all people and forms of life. What tends to happen though is people forget who they are once again and fall out of love and see the relationship(s) to gaining access to the things they want from the world and thus people and life become things rather than a knowing of connectedness and one. When someone dies we are close to a part of us goes with them, that expression of life gone forever from us. What is also going on with our auric fields is that they are easily attuned to each other's range of frequencies, which correlates to seeing the world in similar ways and a want to share similar kinds of experiences. If we grow spiritually at the same rate the auric fields tend to keep the relative same frequency range, dropping the lower frequencies in favor of more joy and bliss frequencies. As we know a 50% divorce rate or higher in some places, indicates that those we hold and cherish till death do us part is not really working. It simply means that one individual outgrew the other and no longer seeks similar experiences, which leads to all kinds of control issues from the one who has not grown as fast.

The main reason this happens is ego. Ego gets in the way of growth, mainly because of the control structure of the system. It implies that one must be the alpha instinctually and that marriage is a contract not an expression of love. Love has no need for marriage or any form of contract. This is done in many cultures to set the ego up for the man usually as the head of the house and thus the ruler over his family, which is not love. This format of course is emphasized through Television and media in general. They steal away the essence of love once you enter the contract of marriage. By the way who has the authority to marry anyone anyways?

The structure of duality goes something like this:

Free will is expressed as two trees, one being the Tree of Knowledge and the other being the Tree of Life. The Tree of Knowledge is all about mind and the Tree of Life is all about Love. In fact both trees exist and it is natural for us to take the fruit from each, not just the fruit that LORD God wanted us to take which was from the Tree of Life in Genesis 3. In essence LORD God was about unbalance where as in truth we have both a mind and heart, which gives us balance. Love allows us to see all that exists and comes from the stillness within us giving us all knowing. Knowledge allows us to create from our knowing with wisdom and love so that all remains in balance. Because LORD God is a parasite he needs to create imbalances within us to get us to obey him in absence of knowledge or love. This of course is within the context of the bible but it is self evident that expressions of love are shut off in favor of expressions of fear, which creates the foundation of control.

There is a break created in the structure of free will by the control system to favor mind over love and thus fear. It could go the other way as well, leaving only love without mind and thus unaware people thinking they are in the Garden of Eden, unable to discern for themselves. Thus everywhere you look within the system you see an unnatural flow of energy directed to the enslavers, rather than a symbiotic balance of flow for all, thus no secrets and no controls and all share in the benefits and failures of what we do together. The enslavers have insulated themselves from all the consequences of what they do to everyone and reap all the benefits from what humanity creates.

The control system itself is based upon the simple structure of worship. It is all about giving our power away to others and unseen entities, rather than taking responsibility for our situation in life and doing what we can to resolve it in a way that is beneficial for us and all those around us. Instead worship is the release of fear energy that gives the adrenalin rush to those we direct our energy too. This is could be simply cheering on our favorite team at a sports event and booing the other team, but in each case we are giving our energy away. Remember we give life and it is where we focus our attention onto that energy flows. The positive and negative aspects of the energy we send out is inconsequential in terms of giving our power away. The game of duality is about creating unbalance within duality to siphon off the energy. The parasites prefer the negative based energy, but will take both as you are directing it towards them and thus it only matters that you give them your attention to give them your life. When you are in fear you are directing your energy away from you. To care about a meaningless sports event where people are dying from starvation and curable diseases, would you not think that paying attention to that would give life to those that are dying rather than who wins a meaningless game?

Yes without worship the system would fall apart fast. Thus the secondary aspect to fear is fiction and titles are created to entice your belief that some people who have titles behind their names in fiction are better than you and/or have authority over you and thus you must obey and give them your attention. How many people die each year in hospitals from treatments rather than cures, because they believe the doctors know how to help them? It is beyond comprehension just how many ways we are enticed in giving away our power and thus life giving energy to people in improvable and laughable authority. Our Ancient cultures and civilization are full of stories of worshipping the Gods. What we worshiped in the past is not what we worship today, but the same idea exists. Some worship money more than anything else.

Duality in its Genesis is not broken at all; it is simply the unnatural application of duality through ego that creates imbalances. Because we give life via our attention or rather focus of consciousness on something, we become a parasites dream come true. Either we focus our energy on life or we focus it on building the manufactured reality of death. It is by only mind and mind control that they allow us to express ourselves. Mind has imagination, but no knowing as that comes from love. Thus mind is based upon fear and fiction and runs rampant in trying to be Number 1 all the time. Winning is everything as loosing means death and Hell. That is the only duality that the mind is allowed to know. If you are a success and thus a highly talented slave or good enslaver you win over those who are not. You are made to believe that you are the best and there is a never ending competition for your spot, should you fail in your duties as a enslaver or slave, it is all fear based.

The legal system is by far the pinnacle of fear and ego. It is completely corrupt and designed completely to enslave all those who go before it in fear and fiction. If you approach it from truth and love you are untouched by it as they cannot see truth or comprehend love. It is all about the idea that you must be judged as you do not know who you are and thus you are within the illusion of fear. You are attracting them too you by fear and its fear that they seek. If you have no fear, you don't express it to them and thus they move onto other prey. Prisons are designed to extract more of your life force, via force than you would ever give outside of prison. In truth prisons are giant fear energy suckers where your health is affected in many ways as you slowly die in there, mentally, physically and spiritually. It is not a happy place to be. Fear leads you to a prison while love balanced with knowledge leads to freedom.

To really see what I am talking about here take a look at the Titles that Judges use. They go by, Your Honor, meaning no one else has any Honor. How about Your Worship, does that title hit home for you? Then there is My Master as what some courts are now using in Alberta. Oh then there is Jesus who will judge the Living and the dead eh, never mind the fact he states he is the Morning Star and thus Lucifer. Judges are to judge the facts, not the truth people. Although the truth will set you free, maybe, it is mainly how you handle yourself and stop all incursions in laying charges against fictions they try to make you a surety for. Yes I guess they need a surety, which if you buy into that title they are quite happy to extract life from you.

Predominantly the best source of fear based energy they can get is from young children before they hit puberty. We are taught to raise our children within a world of fear and fiction. They are traumatized at birth in some cases with a whack on the rear end to get them to start breathing, rather than letting them naturally come about it on their own. We teach them all kinds of fairy tales about life, trying to hide the brutal reality of what we are involved with. Thus Santa Clause (Satan Clause), Tooth Fairy, Story Books, Television and on and on it goes. It is all about immersing them in fiction and we call it love. Imagine if we told them truth about reality and showed them how to think for themselves and be responsible for their actions. Instead we judge and punish them for things that they do bad as they learned to do from the fiction/fear based reality we immersed them into. By age 3 most of their programming is done and by age 7 their personalities are developed to the point where they have been fully indoctrinated into this fear based reality and ego structures.

Yes we do all the work for the slave masters thinking we are doing it out of love. What a mind control thing eh? We have children wrapping their bodies with dynamite and chanting death to Israel etc. We have children being told that their Religion is the best and the true way to heaven. All kinds of ways we create separation from each other. When I graduated from school and drove taxi for the first time, it took me over a month to get use to being around strangers. I was afraid of other people and what they might do to me. Even to this day I talk to people and a lot of people hold fear over other people and say they would never drive Taxi out of fear of what others might do to them etc. Yet we will go to large sports events and worship players, teams and sing a National Anthem energizing fiction and the parasites behind it all.

It is really a path people have chosen I think, for the evidence is very clear that the fear based reality is a complete fraud. Although people acknowledge this who come across this realization, the fear programmed within them paralyzes a lot of people from going up against the system and taking responsibility for their lives. Death is the ultimate fear held by people and they are given the illusion that there is a heaven and hell, when in fact there is neither as we are infinite love. Heaven and Hell are brought into sharp focus here on earth; where the wealthy live in a utopia on earth will the many live in a Hell on earth. War is by far the instrument of terror. It is fine if you are not being bombed, but if you are there is no justice, thus war is played out from a lop sided way with those committed to war having overwhelming strength/ego to do so, versus those they wish to enslave and steal from.

When we ascend it is really going to be about bringing love back into duality. It means our bodies will change and our perspective of everything will change. We will have the power within us to create once again. I see two types of ascension possible one of mind and one of love. Those caught up in fear will end up moving along with the parasites for a while longer and those who can hold themselves in love, will bring back balance and truth within themselves. Mind will no longer dominate those who go into love and thus will be free of this mind based prison forever. It is probably why there is so much mind control being foisted upon us all at this time as when we transcend this reality into a love based reality of duality they die, because we will no longer be focusing our attention and thus energy on them, but rather focusing it on creating balanced systems of infinite potential and love.

Love is unconditional and they can't handle unconditional love as all must be judged, thus they die as they can't access what we are putting out. Is this a bad thing? Not really, because fear is an illusion it is a dream of life upon which our dream has become a nightmare for us to experience within. When we wake up and we will; the dream goes away and we become one and whole again with all of creation. Fear does not create; it forms from what is already present. Thus it us that are eternal that are free to create while the fear fades away into nothing, which is where it originates from, nothing. The idea that we working to better our souls is also a misnomer I think. We are love and by love we can create realities of all kinds to experience within. I think what we are doing though is creating a four dimensional reality from which we can explore through via our mind to infinity. To understand mind we have to be immersed within it and knowing fear is perhaps a gift we gave ourselves so we could create love within the mind/body consciousness reality. The subconscious creates the dream for our eyes to see, it is by our third eye that we see how it all fits together as one.

Duality is formed from the creation of one truth. It is an illusion imprinted upon the truth so one may dream of another reality or possibility from one, yet it is still just a dream and illusion. We wake up when we see it as all being one.

These are just some of my thoughts.
