

How We Give Our Power Away

From time to time I get emails from people who have studied someone's approach to dealing with the Police and Legal System in general. They find themselves immersed with charges, court dates, lawyers and tones of paperwork from the Crown. Then they find out about me and ask for help. The frustrating thing up front is many people do nothing to learn anything until they are in trouble and it without knowing who they are, they dig a very deep hole for themselves. The System is not about Justice, it is about asking one simple question, do you know who you are? If you don't then you are screwed and it matters not how much legal crap you may know, you are still a slave and will be treated as such.

Many People will turn to the Freeman movement or some Common Law movement for help in what to do as the System does not play games, either you are their slave or you are not. Mostly though they think of everyone being their slave no matter what, but there is one rule that they go by as they do recognize that we exist within a duality. No I am not just going to tell you the rule, at least not just yet, because knowing the rule means nothing once again if you do not know who you are. The rule revolves around knowing and believing. All beliefs come from lies and fiction, because a belief does not make something in your mind true and if it was true you would not believe it, you would know it!

People give their power away by arguing with fiction or simply arguing points instead of simply telling the fiction or actor in fiction you do not wish to contract with them and walk away. Nothing and I mean nothing more needs to be discussed beyond that point. There is no arguing the point that you do not wish to contract, which you may want to repeat if they are holding you against your will. If they are using indirect torcher such as making you sit with light clothing on in a cold cell so you become hypothermic to make you sign anything, then simply write Without Prejudice above your signature. I would not sign a name as your signature, just make a mark like an X or something, we don't have names, as all names are fictions. Birth Dates are also hearsay, who really knows the true date of anything within the infinite. The Bible doesn't say at the Beginning God did such and such it says, In the Beginning as there has never been a beginning or an end within the infinite reality we are part of. You could fill in the Birth Date, but saying I don't know when I was born, but I'll put a date down if that makes you happy? Then put down a date in the future perhaps like December 25, 2012, the day of Ascension and end of the Mayan Calendar. Remember it is all fiction.

When I see all these protest going on, what I see is people acting in fiction demanding from fiction solutions in fiction. We want a better economy so we can have jobs to make money to pay for everything in the system, without being ripped off. That is the basics of it. Yes we are being ripped off by the Bankers, no doubt in my mind that is happening. But the Powers That Be (PTB) do not see things the same way as perhaps you see them. What they see is that the slaves are upset by their planned and well orchestrated economic crash; leaving all the resources in the hands of the few, while the many with nothing but food stamps. The most enslaving instrument ever to be introduced to humanity is money, yet this is what people are demanding, better sharing of the money.

The solution to all of this comes from self responsibility and love. Simply put we do not need money; we need food, shelter and clothing as basics. Is it not obvious that people are giving their power away by making demands of the Government to solve the money issue for them? According to Sorcha Faul, the US Navy Intelligence Propaganda artist, is saying that the US Government just ordered 40.75 million doses of Anthrax Vaccine. Anthrax Vaccine gives Gulf War Syndrome to a percentage of those that take it. 40.75 million Represents roughly 13% of the US Population. Thus of the lets say 25% get sick from the Vaccine, which will be forced on them, only 10% of the US Population will be healthy enough to live in Concentration camps making widgets all day for the Military Industrial Complex and the Ultra Rich Bankersterns.

What I see happening with the Occupy Wall Street Protesting is although peaceful, people do not realize that directing their negative emotional energy at the Ruling Elite only provides them with a feeding frenzy. They exist to extract emotional energy mainly fear based energy. What seems to happen is that over time that energy builds and then it is released through sacrifice. Yes this is where all this is leading too I think. Once the parasites get their fill the energy they murder the people giving them energy. This is akin to the Satanic Ritual Sacrifices, where people are tortured and made to know that they are going to suffer a horrible death, building up the adrenalin and at the peak Sacrifice the individual, usually to Baal, aka Satan or Saturn and this allows the demonic entities in the other dimensions access to all the fear based energy and they must be having a great feeding frenzy on it.

It is obvious that they will never give into the demands of the people. To do so would mean death for the Parasites. Their way is to push this to total destruction of earth if they can. They win by getting a lot of people caught up in fear and extracting that energy, which they in turn use against us again over and over again. The only way out as I see it is to sour the milk as much as we can by doing things out of love for one another and not for money. When your basic needs are met you don't worry about tomorrow or planning too much, you simply live and work to better the lives around you as that betters your life as well. If all the people at these protests simply stopped worrying over money and simply took back their dominion and acted upon their own free will helping one another, irregardless of what the POLICE or anyone else has to say, it would work. People would see that we do not need money and thus the entire victimless crime stuff would disappear over-night.

However we don't have access to mass media and the Internet is all we have. The divide and rule scenario is the main way that they get us under their control. When you look at someone who is different than you and label them as such you are creating a divide and rule opportunity. We are all equal to each other. Religions are all about fear based control. The most ancient law that that exists is the Law of One, in that we are all part of one creator and thus all is creation and love. It is nothing simpler than that. Teaching people how to overcome their belief in fiction is a daunting task. It takes a lot of energy because most people never stop to think that a name or title does not exist in reality. The Parasites use fiction because within it they can manipulate the truth to their liking. If they can get you to believe that they are something other than life within creation and equal to you and them, then they got you. It is through fiction that our power and energy are sucked away. When we live in truth it creates balance and it is very hard to do the acting in fiction with someone who is living in truth.

I also think that this is a spiritual thing in a way. Perhaps it is creations way to sort out those who are ready to live within a truth and love based reality and those that are not. If someone took away everything I had and threw me out onto the street to live on food stamps, I might be a bit upset about it too. I am not saying what is happening is not fair, I am saying that through self responsibility and an awareness of living in truth and love would solve these issues very quickly. It is very hard to go it alone on this as well. To sustain yourself requires a lot of work and they have done a great job at destroying any independent way of living outside of the system. But it is possible to do if enough people move together as one.

What I have noticed is that when those of us put no energy into fiction they leave us alone. They simply go after those who believe in their fictional reality. In court if you do not give a name the Court cannot see you. They may judge the name, but they don't see you or acknowledge you. That is the biggest tip off ever eh? Truth has no illusions; truth always leads to healing and love. So I do what I can to stay in truth and love and thus minimize my contact with them. I do hold a drivers license and work as a Taxi Driver and pay fines associated with driving. However I do not pay taxes and do not go looking to cause problems that would ensure contact with Police. I know who I am and if I don't like something being done to me then I pick my fight there and stay in truth. It is what a lot of us do in the Freedom Movement as we are dependent on the system for our ability to live. Some people can live without a driver's license and even money and that is great as it shows the rest of us what is possible.

Eventually though the system is and will destroy itself and take a lot of people with it in a mass attempt to harvest the souls here on earth. My hope is that things go on long enough that most of us can make the jump into ascension December 25, 2012. If ascension does not happen and we are faced with the reality that it is the system or us, I think most people are not aware enough to make the realization that we don't need the system and simply form communities based on truth and love, rather what they want is an all out war where it gives them the excuse to depopulate the world and bring in the New World Order.

Sadly I wonder that in knowing and living in truth if that will be enough to keep me and others safe or will we as one be subjected to the whims of the many for the few? No it is not fair that those of us that are awake and can see what is truly going on need to suffer more. I am not saying that we are different, but that we are very tired of all this and in some cases despondent and withdrawn from wanting to do anything more to help others who refuse to see the simple truths about the fiction based reality they live in. It is not fair that demonic 4th dimensional entities made these bodies we inhabit as an emotional transformational system to give them access to fear based energy they need to live from. They suck endlessly upon our creative essence of life until we can no longer sustain our own life and then they move onto our children. We are discarded and forgotten like cattle in the field.

To understand law is very simple. You only need to tell them that you do not wish to contract with them and walk away. Return all their paper work. If they won't let you go unless you sign your name put, "Without Prejudice" above your name and walk out. Again return all their paper work and never talk to them again. Never return a phone call and never willingly go to their court. The charges only apply to a name that exists in a fictional world. You are free and always have been free. The mere idea that they went to the trouble to put it all in fiction to begin with tells me that there is truly a creative force at work here and those of us that seek fiction will find their self judgement there in the illusion. Those of us that seek love and truth will simply find freedom and love as one with all. At least that is what I am hoping is going on. It seems self-evident that this is the case separating those who live in fear over those who live in love, separating the dark from the light so to speak. But why not tell us the truth to begin with and create a world based upon love?

The Ascension process itself is selectively based in that those who cannot handle the love based reality of 5D will simply not be able to stay within that dimension so they say and fall back into the fear based 4th Dimension. Never ending duality of divide and concur this all seems. I am tired of it all. I truly don't see any purpose to any of this as love is all there is in truth. You would be amazed at how many people tell me that they are not fictions and yet they will argue with actors in fiction and demand things of fiction. It is like they can't think beyond fictional based concepts. Money is a big one as much as people want fair based money, they hold a fear that they somehow have to be compensated for things that they do for others. It is not out of love it is out of fear of not getting something in return, rather than working to build a structure where money is not needed.

I know how horribly we are immersed in fiction and it isn't easy for any of us, but so long as we are involved with it, we are going to be giving our power away to demonic entities that parasitically feed off of us. So perhaps instead of Occupying Wall Street, we simply Occupy earth and destroy all forms of fiction and control? Why we have to wait for Ascension or outside forces to help us with this? I guess in reality we who see the fiction must wait for more people to start seeing what we see in order for this natural shift into love and freedom to occur.
