

Order in the Court

All rise, JUDGE FICTION pre-“siding” ... with the New World Order, Satanism, Secularism, authority hoax, Banksters, Ruling Elite and the Wealthy people in general.

JUDGE FICTION sits down gets comfortable and says you may all sit as he/she gets bows from the Sheriffs, Lawyers and anyone else who wants to worship his/her worship, a god among people.

JUDGE FICTION notices that you have not yet sat and asks you to sit and you do not comply. The Court Sheriffs all start moving towards you as JUDGE FICTION begins to turn red in a fit demanding that you sit. You hold your ground and say, “I am standing in my dominion over all the earth and over every living thing upon the earth were you not aware of this? This is God’s Court is it not and if not who’s court is it and could you please give me verification that our creator said it was so?”

JUDGE FICTION screams your actions are in contempt upon this court. And you say contempt of who’s court, I see no court, just a building sitting on the earth. A court you say, what proof do you have of that to verify your claim? If we must make use of our imagination, then I would say this is my Court as you have allowed the Clerk of the Court to say you are a JUDGE when in fact you are just a man created as male/female by God from what I see. If that is not true please state your verifiable claim that it is not true and I will treat you as being a living thing rather than a man created as male/female by God our Creator and holding dominion over all the earth.

I came here to speak with you concerning a ticket that was given to a registered owner of whom I have never met and being asked to pay. It says here on the summons that ABC Company is the registered owner of the vehicle, yet I cannot see how a fictional entity could own anything as it is not present in the world. It would seem to me unless it actually exists it has no say on how deal with this ticket, since the ticket is on the earth and I am holding it here in my hands and thus hold dominion as per what God says in Genesis 1:26-28. So I a man created as male by God quash this ticket. If anyone has a higher claim than God please state your claim now.... Okay it stands that the ticket is quashed. Sheriff please give this to the Court Clerk for processing.

I thank you and good bye.

Justice

It is we that are holding up the pyramid of power. The illusion is that these people in black suits somehow hold authority over us when in fact they don't. They are parasites that feed off us and do so to only enslave us so they can have 80% or more of the wealth in the world. Yes 1% of the population has 80% or more of the wealth. It is beyond comprehension that we allow it, but that is the truth.

So they want you to give them something by playing a scam on you making you believe that somehow you are responsible for paying taxes, fines and fees of all kinds, when the value of the money that comes out of the bank is given value by our labor but sold by the mint to the banks for the face value of the bills, when the bills are simply pieces of paper. Let me say that again. The bills printed by the mint are sold to the banks for the actual face value of the currency, while the mint keeps all the profits from the actual printing of the money. Now then, the theft begins there and is siphoned off into the holdings of bankers who own the mints through their front men or countries they own. Canada is not a country or colony, it is merely a corporation listed on the Security Exchange Commission in Washington DC. The owners of Canada own the mint as they own the mints in many countries around the world, thus for every dollar created the Ruling Elite get their cut on what goes out into the various economies.

The truth is that the value of the dollar has been stolen from us before we get to use it to pay for anything. Thus all goods have been paid for by the Banks paying full price for the money that comes from the mint and we are simply paying for what has already been paid for again. It is merely our labor that is being exchanged, but those who get the pay off from the mint need not labor for anything within this world, only to keep the status quo so they don't have to labor.

Compliance equals contract. Well what is a contract? All contracts make use of fictions, which simply invalidates them because they are lies. Fictions do not exist and thus cannot be held accountable for anything. Thus if a contract is broken by a fiction, what harm has been done by a fiction? None, it is we that cause harm or no harm there is no contract that needs to be signed. Names are fictions too, no one can say that they have a true name, because all names are hearsay.

We are in a time of Vibrational change that is allowing us to see the truth for what it is. It is our compliance with the system that keeps it going. If we simply did what we knew to be right and Just we would be much better off. That 1% of the population that lives well, would have to begin to work beside us as equals if we refused to allow them to steal from us. Capitalism is slavery. It rewards those who hold title or privilege while siphoning off the labor of the many. They say they are investors and must get a return on their investment or they will go broke. That return on investment is merely a guide to how well one enslaves his fellow man, when in fact it takes everyone in a company 8 hours a day or more to keep the products and services rolling. We are all equal but the system makes us all slaves except for the ruling few. Some people are better at some jobs than others and are thus more productive, but not everyone is pigeon holed to flip burgers or dig ditches. You put in a honest days work and you should be able to extract the same amount wealth from the company as everyone else. Communism you scream, no if you are a Communist, you have a one ruling party looking out for all the slaves. Socialism it is! No it is simply equality. A CEO who makes 500 million dollars a year or more versus a production line worker who makes $40,000.00 a year is a disconnect. They both labor the same amount during the day so what is the difference? Running a big company is more about politics then it is about producing a product, yet all the CEO does is make decisions that should help with meeting the demands of the market for the product produced. Yet most companies draw upon the ingenuity of their workers rather than on the ingenuity of a CEO who decides about what they should do based on the ideas that come from the people working in the company.

Protesting is not the way to go, simple non compliance with what they want you to do to support the system is. We are infinite consciousness. Our mind is what get's scared, we can never be destroyed or harmed, this reality is only an illusion. If you lose your house because of the bankers have made conditions in the economy so bad that you can't make the mortgage payments stay there. Be free as you are freedom. Make things difficult for the system not for your fellow man. Bring back justice and equality for all. If you start doing this, you will start seeing this. If everyone started doing this, the world would change overnight.

Here is a short video David Icke put together who I think is really trying very hard to bring all this to a new level of awareness.

If we continue to allow people who wear uniforms or black suits dictate to us how we should be, we will never be free. They are simply actors in fiction; they have no authority over us at all.
